We are unsure how Covid-19 will progress through our communities and how it will impact on the exam timetable. However, the plan is to continue working to ensure that the children are ready if exams do go ahead.

We have been completing a lot of reading and listening exam papers and your children can now focus on some writing tasks.

Can you please forward your email address to gaelcoilanchaistil@gmail.com to make sure that I have all relevant addresses? I will then forward the various pieces of work that I need the children to complete and you can email them to me as each one is completed. I will then read over the task and underline any changes that need to be addressed and the children can complete that and send the task back to me. This means that they will continue to work on relevant material.
